HUN LICKED QUITS COLD

KNUCKLE TO ARMISTICE TERMS LAID DOWN BY INTER ALLIED COUNSEL AT VERSAILLES

THE UNITED PRESS CARRIES FIRST NEWS TO U. S.

GERMANY'S REPRESENTATIVES ACCEPTED TERMS AT 11 A. M. WARFARE CEASED AT 2 O'CLOCK, P. M.

The world war is over. Germany accepted the American-Allied armistice terms at eleven o'clock this morning and fighting ceased three hours later.

The last big local victory of the war was won by the American troops who advanced several miles and took the historic city of Sedan.

Marshal Foch's terms are known to preclude a possibility of resumption of war by Germany.

The army organization of the Kaiser has been so effectively eliminated that nothing remains but a sorry sight.

At the same time the armistice was signed allies were smashing forward over a 150 mile front from the Scheide to the Meuse, tearing the enemy defenses to pieces and taking terrible toll of the remaining army—a sorry remnant of a magnificent fighting machine which went boldly forward in 1914 to make German power supreme throughout the world.

The American smash that took Sedan penetrated the German lines to a depth of more than 4 miles and on various sectors the French and British advanced to a depth of from 3 to 6 miles.

A revolution started in Germany immediately after word was received that the armistice was signed. Many authorities declare this incipient revolution will be one of bloodiest revolutions of history.

Germany Lost Four Million Men

Germany has lost four million men killed in war and as many are blind, crippled for life and are nervous wrecks. The country is practically bankrupt but will be called upon yet to pay indemnities running into billions for destruction of Allied property and shipping.

Kaiser Is Out

That the Kaiser was forced to accept humiliating terms that will provide for the overthrow of his own house is certain although no details have been made public this afternoon.

His partnership with God is dissolved. The best that he can do is to escape with his own life. Before the terms were submitted to Germany the Kaiser was forced to appeal to Marshal Foch and Admiral Weymess, as military and naval representatives of the Allies under a flag of truce.

Wilson Calm

President Wilson was informed of the signing of the armistice by the United Press which received first news of it in this country. The flash was signed by Roy W. Howard, President of the United Press in charge of the organization in France and by Wm. Phillip Simms, United Press staff correspondent who has been with the British and French on the western front during the entire war. After President Wilson Secretary Tumulty and Secretary of War Baker were the first to hear from the United Press of the signing of the armistice. President Wilson took it calmly. He was before his desk piled up with work talking to visitors when he was handed the news announcement. He made no comment, and a few minutes later when handed more details of the signing he smiled and said "Good". The general staff received the word through the center censorship office. Shortly after Baker learned the news Lansing received a United Press cable.

By J. W. P. MASON
(United Press Expert)

The end of the war has come with the German army down on its knees and compelled to accept unconditional surrender. The final day of hostilities finds halt of the German forces in France trapped south of Ardennes by the brilliant offensive of the American army which closed the Luxemburg way of retreat and took Sedan in a series of remarkable feats which extended during the final week of the conflict.

Germany's frantic effort to get out of France and Belgium would have annihilated all of the German military power. There is no truth that the last phase of the war has shown Germany as master in the art of retreat. Her effort to reach her own border was a ghastly failure. The end of the war finds Hindenburg only half way home to reach the Rhine.

Germany's defeat is complete overwhelming of utter ruin. No more will we hear of the Iron Prussian. The forces of democracy dealt the knockout blow which sent Germany's return to feudal despotism.

Now the pitfalls of the peace table are for a divided house. Germany's last stand will be at the peace table where here defeat will be complete.

CELEBRATE TONIGHT AT 8

VICTORY PARADE TONIGHT

The loyal patriotic people of Clearfield and vicinity are invited to participate in a joyous celebration this evening to properly commemorate the great news of the triumph of the Allied arms and the ending of the huge world war.

We will have a parade and other observances beginning at 8 o'clock. Let everybody be in line.

JOHN M. CHASE,
Burgess.

FLU BAN NOT LIFTED HERE FRIDAY

It can be definately stated that the influenza order closing poolrooms and public meetings of all kinds will not be lifted in Clearfield county on Friday.

To prepare themselves for more essential service a group of University of Chicago women is organizing the Women's Student Training Corps in order to secure for its members definite training for some particular work needed by the nation.

After a year in New York the order prohibiting the wearing of veils by women has been lifted in the interest of safety.

OUR RECORD

During the last few months we have given the present management of The Progress has never permitted the posting of a bulletin unless it was based on fact and truth. It is with extreme pelasure that we can record today the glorious privilege of bringing the first news of the termination of the war to Clearfield people. Some time ago when peace rumors were persistent we said that when peace came, the United Press would be the first to tell not only Clearfield but the entire nation as well. Our faith in the organization to which we belong is justified again in this case. Clearfield people can always depend on Progress news.

GOING UP!

The three marshalls. Thomas R., Foch and Short.

GETTING READY

Ira McCloskey, the boy sheriff, is happy over his appointment as a Deputy U. S. Marshall and we are happy with him because he is a king among good fellows. The popularity of this young Democrat is probably one of the chief reasons why he was selected for the place. Something must be done in this part of Pennsylvania to strengthen the bailiwick of the real U. S. Marshall politically and this fact is better realized by the U. S. Marshall than anyone else. However, there are a lot of job-hungry Democrats who will remember that McCloskey has had several years of good, juicy salary off the county and will not be able to see why he should be handed another plum when he is hardly through extracting the nectar from the last one. These Democrats have peculiar ideas about such things.

MAYHEM TO THE GERMAN EMPIRE

There was a time when the Kaiser spoke with fiendish glee of his strong arm methods. Favorite phrases in his military vocabulary were "my mailed fist" and "the iron heel of Prussia". The Yanks are not such bad fellows but they have been committing mayhem on the realm of Kaiser Wilhelm ever since the first crew went over. Down at Chateau-Thierry the devil dogs took a few bites at that iron heel and we have not heard anything about it since. Then again in the Soissons salient they gave the Hun a pretty good squeezing in those pincers between Rheims and Soissons and that must be where the Kaiser lost the fingers on the mailed fist. Just what happened to the anatomy of the German autocrats at St. Mihiel is a matter of conjecture, but that it was a "dutch rub" is amply proven by the way in which they beat it for the rear lines. With all this injury being done to the German military machine there is yet remaining the most dangerous part of his makeup—the head. Let us hope that in the armistice terms there is some provision for removing the head from that horrible monstrosity of a man who paraded for years as a partner of a just God in Heaven.

Originally the Finlanders were fire-worshippers, and to this fact, doubtless, may be traced the custom, never neglected at midsummer and other seasons, of lighting on the hills bonfires, around which the country folk dance, while they join their voices in musical chorus. At the coast this traditional fire is often lit upon a raft some short distance from the shore, and there the festive throng row in a circle, singing almost as long as the flames continue to illuminate the somewhat weird scene.

The roar of a waterfall is produced almost entirely by the bursting of millions of air-bubbles.

Hartford, Conn., has a new building 790 feet high, one of the six tallest buildings in the world.

Rev. H. G. C. Hallock, of Shanghai, has compiled a Chineses concordance. It is in three volumes and contains 400,000 direct or indirect Bibles references, using over 5,000,000 Chinese characters.

A large number of women of China have distinguished themselves as poets, and in a great biographical dictionary of sixteen hundred and twenty eight volumes, three hundred and seventy-six are devoted to the lives of great Chinese women.

Although the list of New York women seeking public office at the election next month is not a long one, including only about 125 names, still it is a list that covers nearly every office in state, county city and village.

Supporters of woman suffrage in Louisiana are pursuing a vigorous campaign to secure the adoption of the suffrage amendment to the state constitution at the election next month.

Ninety-four per cent. of the entire population of Alaska is enlisted in the membership of the Red Cross.

Of the 2,141,000 persons employed in the metal trades in the United States, nearly 100,000 are women over 16 years of age.

Relief from Eczema

Don't worry about eczema or other skin troubles. You can have a clear, healthy skin by using a little zemo, obtained at any drug store for 35c, or extra large bottle at $1.00.

Zemo generally removes pimples, blackheads, blotches, eczema, and ringworm and makes the skin clear and healthy. Zemo is a clean, penetrating, antiseptic liquid, neither sticky nor greasy and stains nothing. It is easily applied and costs a mere trifle for each application. It is always dependable.

Eventually, it is said, all women war workers under the control of the United States government will be required to wear a uniform of battle-ship gray, with the possible exception of the women motor drivers, who now wear uniforms of tan color, and the yeowomen, who will retain their blue costumes.

The names of twenty-three women will appear on the ballots at the coming election as candidates for seats in the New York state assembly.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. A little of this fragrant antiseptic cream put in your nostrils and let it penetrate to reach every air passage of your head, soothe and healing the inflamed swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

An ice cold shower. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, and you can breathe freely. Nothing else in the world gives such quick relief. Don't suffer with a cold or catarrh. Ely's Cream Balm is just what everyone from head colds and catarrh need. Its a delight.

To Prevent The Spread of Influenza

The Board of Health advises that all rooms be well ventilated.

Drafts should be avoided.

To get fresh air without drafts, use Sanitary Cloth Window Screens. They keep out drafts, but let fresh air come in. They keep out dust, dirt and rain.

They are inexpensive.

You should have them in all your windows.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE
BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CIRCUS ELEPHANTS.

"I am the leader of the great parade," said Babe. Now Babe was the biggest elephant belonging to the circus. She always led the procession and also she led the way from the big trains of cars down to the circus grounds.

"You're Right, Old Boy."

How often she had been in the circus performances and sometimes she would think to herself: "I don't believe anyone will come to see our performance today."

She would sometimes say this aloud, swinging her trunk as she spoke, and Matty, another elephant, would say: "What makes you think that?"

"Well," said Babe, "I've been in the circus business for years and years and years. We are the members of a very big, three ringed circus, and we travel to big cities as well as to small towns."

(In the cities Babe led the way through streets down to the circus building. She also would lead the way from one small place to another if the distance was not so very great.)

"What has all of that got to do with your speech about thinking there won't be many coming to the circus today?" asked Matty.

"Just this," said Babe. "It seems to me that every single man, woman and child in the whole world has seen my tricks. They have seen us all put our front feet upon each other and stand over the keeper who would lie on the ground. We would do it just so, and would never step on the keeper. Oh no, we could never make such a mistake. And the people would hold their breath and say: 'How does that man dare do that? Just suppose that an elephant should step on him!'

"But we wouldn't step on our nice, kind keeper. Oh no! Oh no!"

And Matty swung her trunk high up in the air and said, "Oh no! Oh no!"

"Well," continued Babe, "I don't see why folks all over the world aren't through seeing the circus. We have done our tricks for years and years, beautiful ladies have ridden bareback on white horses, bears have ridden bicycles or skated on roller skates, clowns have cracked jokes and laughed and gone around with painted faces.

"Girls and men have swung way up in the air on trapezes, ladies have walked along narrow ropes, carrying parasols. Men have swung by their hair, ladies by their teeth.

"Some folks have sung, others have worn snakes, some have ridden in chariots. Yes, all sorts of tricks have been performed and as long as I can remember elephants have always been a part of the circus. I have always led the parade of this circus and have always known the way from town to town, from station to circus ground."

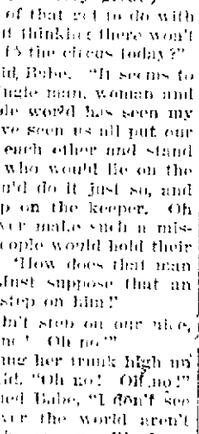
"They say elephants are famous for their memories," said Matty, "and you certainly live up to that saying for you have a wonderful memory, all right."

"It's just as easy to remember things as to forget them," said Babe modestly.

"Every one doesn't feel that way about it," said Matty. "Most creatures find it easier to forget."

"But really," continued Babe, "I don't believe anyone will come to the circus today. We've performed for such crowds that we must have performed for every living person. And I think perhaps we'll find that no one will come for a time because every one has seen us so many years.

"We'll have to begin again in a few years, for those who are babies now will be children later on and they will want to see the circus. But I have my doubts about anyone coming today."



Skated on Roller Skates.

"Ah Babe," said Matty, "you are a very wise elephant and your memory and your tricks make you very fine and wonderful, but one thing you don't know which I do — and that is that folks don't come to see a circus once—they come again and again and again.

"For a circus is a circus and there is nothing else like it, so you need never worry about people not coming because they've all seen the circus before.

"People will always come to a circus as long as there are grown-ups and children, and as long as there is a circus to come to."

And as Babe looked around the circus tent and saw the people coming in crowds to their seats she nodded his trunk and said:

RUSSEL FLEGAL WAS KILLED IN ACTION ON OCTOBER 7TH

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Flegal received an official notice from the War Department last evening, which conveyed the sad announcement that their eldest son, Russell, had been killed in action in France on October 7th last.

Russell Flegal was born in Clearfield twenty-four years ago last April, and spent his entire life here. He was a graduate of the Clearfield High School and during his school years took an active interest in athletics. He was an expert football and basket ball player and a general all round athlete.

Shortly after war was declared he enlisted in the United States Marine Corps and went with about the first bunch of that hard-fighting organization to the battle fields of France. He went through about all the big battles in which the Marines participated and was gassed and slightly wounded in March last.

Following his recovery he went back into the line and was at Chateau-Thierry, Belleau Wood and the many other fields in that region made memorable for all time in the history of warfare by the bravery and skill of the Marines and American doughboys.

In his last letter home, written a few days before his death, he told a thrilling story of his experiences and graphically pictured the dangers and hardships of the soldier's life.

He was an exemplary boy and his legion of Clearfield friends sympathize deeply with his sorrowing parents in their bereavement and sorrow.

Besides his parents he is also survived by three brothers, viz:—Horace, in the Navy; Walter at the Officers' Training School at Camp Taylor, Ky., and John, at home.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Leo Dugan, nee Gussie Dougherty, died at her home in Osceola last evening at 5.50 o'clock, of pneumonia following a severe attack of influenza.

The deceased was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dougherty, of Park avenue. When a little child she was taken to live with her maiden aunts and spent almost her entire life in Clearfield. She was possessed of a charming personality and had many warm friends in this community.

In May, 1917, she was united in marriage with Leo Dugan, of Osceola, and had since resided there. When the influenza epidemic struck Osceola Mr. and Mrs. Dugan were both taken down with it and both developed pneumonia. The husband remains critically ill at his home.

The funeral will be held at Osceola Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment in the Catholic cemetery there.

Since 1870 the German general staff has always held Metz to be the principal pivot against France and maintained there a peace garrison of 25,000 men. The city is surrounded by a veritable network of massive forts, armored batteries, infantry positions, countless shelters, and magazines to supply the lines and ways of safe communication.

FLU TOLL HAS HIT DUBOIS DISTRICT QUITE HEAVILY

According to the reports made by physicians yesterday at the daily conference held, the influenza situation is showing improvement in regard to the number of new cases. A total of eleven new cases were given by the physicians who reported and it is figured that there were about thirty altogether. One physician stated that the influenza now prevailing seems to be of milder form than when the disease broke out. There is every reason to believe that the tentative schedule of the lifting of the ban will be followed out and that on Friday there will be a partial opening of business places and amusements. The theatres are already advertising their attractions, while several dances have been advertised.

No deaths from influenza were reported by the undertakers yesterday.

It is interesting to note the ravages of the influenza epidemic that prevailed during the month of October, as shown by the death statistics compiled by Registrar Frank Tutton. It it noted that the disease was even more general than the daily publication of deaths would indicate. Close to one hundred families in the city of DuBois felt the presence of the death angel, bringing sorrow to the hearts of the members.

There was a total of 137 deaths in this district, which includes DuBois, Sandy, Brady and Union townships. These were divided as follows: DuBois 95; Sandy 37; Brady 4, and Union 1. Of these, influenza and its complications resulted in the death of 102 in the district. This is certainly a heavy tool for the disease.

Last October there was only a total of 24 deaths in the district, divided as follows: DuBois 14; Sandy 6; Brady 4; Union none. There was a total of 192 deaths in the entire district last year, so it will be seen that the total for October of this year is approaching close to the entire total of last year.

WANTON FIRING BY UNKNOWN HUNTER YESTERDAY

What appears to be wanton shooting of two young lads occurred yesterday morning along the B. & S. railroad in the vicinity of the Joe Hand dam, when an unknown hunter, on his way to the woods, fired promiscuously at a B. & S. repair gang, wounding two young men. The wounded lads are Thornton Woods, of Highland street, and James Shaw, of Oklahoma. Woods received a buckshot through the cheek, while Shaw had pellets driven into his neck and chest.

There was no excuse for the shooting other than a hasty temper on the part of the hunter. The nimrod was traveling along the railroad with his dog, when one of the lads whistled at the animal. The hunter immediately became angered, it is alleged, and lifted his gun, fired in the direction of the whistler. Fortunately only a few scattered shots reached the boys. In the excitement that followed the hunter made his escape.

After receiving medical attention the young lads were advised to get out warrants, but in view of the fact that they have no idea whom the hunter was it is probable that no arrests will follow.—DuBois Courier.

WELL KNOWN O'SHANTER MAN DIES

Adam Hutchinson, the well known hotel man, died at his home in O'Shanter yesterday morning of pneumonia following an attack of influenza from which he had been suffering for a couple of weeks.

He was about 50 years of age and leaves a widow and large family of children.

CENSOR GIVES "BILL" PRIZE FOR LETTER

London, Nov. 7—The censor gets gray hair early wading through a lot of wild letters, but the following, taken from an American doughboy at an English port has gained him the reputation as the "prize liar" of the war:

"Dear Mother and the Folks—We hadn't no more than got out of sight of New York than you could see submarines bobbing up all around us. Tht periscopes were as thick as cattails in a swamp. I counted seventy-five, and then the ships began to fire.

"The gunner near me fainted. Shell-shock, I guess. I sprang to the gun and began shooting. The first shot I fired hit a submarine square on top at the back, and tore out its whole backbone, just like tearing out a while's backbone. There was blood all over the water and some oil.

"I kept on shooting. I sank twelve of the submarines myself. The battle lasted a good while and I heard fifty of the submarines had been destroyed. None of us was killed. The submarines, what was left, finally left us. We haven't seen any more of them. Give this to the papers. Love to all the folks from your soldier boy,

Not a Bite to Eat Breakfast Before You Drink

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate prevents sickness and keeps you feeling fine

Just as coal when it burns leaves a certain amount of incombustible matter the form of ashes so the food we eat day after day leaves in the system a certain amount of indigestible matter which if not completely eliminated from the system each day becomes food for billions of bacteria which infect the body. From this mass of left-over waste matter poisonous ptomain-like poisons are formed and absorbed into the blood.

Men and women who can't understand why they must begin to take inside bathing breakfast each morning should know that a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxic matter from the entire alimentary canal clean and sweet.

Those who are subject to frequent attacks of colds biliousness constipation or who wake up with bad taste foul breath, coated tongue, mucus stiffness or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals are urged to get a few ounces of limestone phosphate from any druggist and begin practicing internal bathing. This will cost very little. But is splendid for anyone an enthusiast on the subject. Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, hence poor health while the bowels are clogged. Just as soap and hot water cleanses the outside and freshens the skin so hot water with a little limestone phosphate set on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

A school to train women in drafting has been established in St. Louis Women's committee Council of National defense.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

The other day Bud Smith met with a rather peculiar accident. He was cranking an automobile when by some means his hold on the crank slipped, jerking his head forward and downward bringing his probocis in contact with an iron bar injuring it so severely that the attention of a medical man was required.

Robert Chilcote, a South Side youth was engaged in playing foot ball yesterday afternoon and was unfortunate in slipping and falling to the ground with such force as to break several bones in one of his arms.

Miss Lou V. Hipps, who is employed in the George K. Klines big store in Johnstown, and who has been home on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hipps, South Filbert street, left yesterday for Johnstown ot resume her duties in the store.

John Kelly who is considered to be one of the most successful hunters in these mountains, informed the writer yesterday that he had only managed to bag ten big squirrels so far this season. He also said that he saw more pheasants so far this season, than during the entire time of last year, and also stated that those birds were more plentiful than were rabbits. He said he could not account for it, but that the statement was true nevertheless.

Mrs. Harry Hoover, who has been a resident of Curwensville for some years, coming from Lock Haven to work in the Citizen's National bank just then started, and at its suspension taking a position with the Curwensville National bank and afterward becoming interested in the Bickford Store company, but for the past two years acting as a clerk in the Curwensville National bank, has resigned his position in that institution and will remove with his family to Harrisburg shortly. Just what business Mr. Hoover will engage in when settled in that city, the writer has not learned, but some say will engage in the mercantile trade with a brother. During Mr. Hoover's sojourn in Curwensville he has made many warm and lasting friends who will heartily wish him unbounded success in his new home and whatever business he may become engaged in. He was a valued helper in the Presbyterian Sunday school where he conducted an adult class the members of which will surely miss him.

Carl Owens killed two prize coons and had them in town on exhibition Tuesday. One of them weighed 37 pounds, while its mate tipped the beam at 40 pounds. All hunters who examined the animals pronounced them perfect specimens of their kind, in fact that they were two of the finest coons they had ever seen in years. The animals were killed in Knox township.

Progress man the following communication received yesterday from the commissioner of health of Pennsylvania, the subject being the removal of restrictions imposed during the influenza epidemic.

"It would seem as though the period of greatest danger from influenza is past in your county and that we may fix the time for removal of the restrictions imposed by this department.

"You are therefore authorized, usless some special conditions warrant continuing them longer, to remove restrictions on theatres, moving picture establishments and dance halls, and all meetings and on the sale of alcoholic beverages required by orders of October 3, 4, and 6th, on Friday November 8th at 12 o'clock noon.

"Private funerals shall be required, no matter what may have been the cause of death, for at least one week after November 8th.

J. M. BYERS,
Acting Com.

In conjunction with this order Curwensville authorities have decided to maintain the same strict quarantine regulations as have been in force for the past four weeks, one week longer or until the 15th. This is no hasty action of those in authority but was determined on after consulting with a large number of citizens, the opinion of the largest majority being that nothing would be lost by holding to the quarantine for another week longer. This decision may not be in favor with some now, but in looking backward a few years from now, will see the wisdom of the boards present action.

The houses down on the flat were thoroughly cleansed and fumigated yesterday. It required some hard manual labor but the job was thoroughly accomplished. No new cases were reported to the health board yesterday, and all those who are afflicted were reported to be getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances. No new patients were added to the emergency hospital. There are five cases there at present.

The election poll in both wards yesterday was a very light one. Not more than two thirds of the towns total vote was polled. The proposed $12,000 bond issue carried by 106 of a majority, the greatest opposition to it being in the Second ward. Both wards went Republican by a substantial majority. Why such a small number of borough voters failed to cast their ballots is incomprehensible, from the fact that heretofore Curwensville usually polled the large percentage of her vote, regardless of who was on the ticket to be voted for or whatever the question was to be voted upon.

Several cars of potatoes arrived in town yesterday and were unloaded at the ware house of several of our merchants. Potatoes are reported to be a pretty fair crop in this county and the selling price should not exceed $2.00 per bushel.

OSCEOLA MILLS

Although there is an improvement in the "flu" situation here there were two deaths yesterday from pneumonia following an attack of the influenza. W. I. Mole, the night foreman at the P. R. R. engine house, died at the home of Mr. Groner on Stone street. He is survived by his sorrowing wife, mother and sister who took the body to his former home at Altoona on the 4:50 p. m. train. Deceased was a member of the Hawk Run lodge I. O. O. F.

Mrs. Leo Dugan also passed away yesterday. She was one of the first victims of the disease in our town and after a partial recovery took a relapse and died also her husband. Both were moved to the Osceola House, the home of Mr. Dugan's parents, where several members of that family are afflicted, and where she died about 6:30 last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Henry were called to Lewistown on Tuesday where their son Herman is ill with influenza.

There were but nine patients at the emergency hospital last night. There [illegible] two there [illegible]

WILL KEEP RECORDS OF BRAVERY OF THE PENNSYLVANIA BOYS

Frederick Lauer of Lebanon, a corporal in the national army, recently wounded in France, is the first Pennsylvania man in the service to have his military record entered in the archives of the Pennsylvania War History commission. Corporal Lauer's grandmother, born in Berlin, is still living in ——— at the advanced age of ninety-five years, and it is the corporal's oft-expressed wish that he may visit his grandmother's birthplace in Berlin in company with a few other American soldiers on the other side

It is the intention of the commission to preserve a record of every Pennsylvanian who has entered the service, whether in the regular army, the national army, the national guards, the navy, or in welfare work. At the headquarters of the Pennsylvania war history commission, 1300 Locust street, Philadelphia, plans and preparations are being made for carrying out the enormous undertaking of recording the personal history of each man. A folder is to be set aside for each man reported to the commission, in which will be placed his photograph, a record of his life before enlistment or induction into the service, a record of his career in the army or navy, together with letters or newspaper clippings concerning his activities.

The commission expects to obtain the cooperation of local authorities, historical societies, schools and churches in preparing a complete list of Pennsylvanians who have gone into the service not only of the United States, but of the allied nations as well.

Parents and relatives of men who have been cited for bravery, or who have received promotions, or have been wounded, or have given their lives for their country"s cause, are requested to supply the commission with personal facts concerning the men in whom they are interested. The records thus preserved will be of immense value to future writers and historians and may find a place in histories of the war work of Pennsylvania as a whole, or of the several counties of the state.

All records may be sent to Dr. Albert McKinley, secretary of the war history commission of the Pennsylvania council of national defense, care of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, 13th and Locust streets, Philadelphia.

ban is to be lifted here Friday. The rumor that no one is allowed to enter or leave town is a myth.

The friends of Lt. W. Elbridge Brown will be pleased to know that his condition is slightly improved. His mother and sister are with him at Newport News.

Joseph Hobba has been honorably discharged from the active service and permitted to return home and help win the war by producing more coal.

Good Tools Will Lessen Butchering Time Labor

The labor of butchering time will be greatly lessened if you have the proper tools and—what's more important—have tools that are worth while.

Butchering tools are something that you do not want to buy every year so the best is the cheapest in the long run.

Tools of Quality

Don't let the great day catch you napping. Come in now and prepare. Meat cutters with cutting knives that cut; cleavers that will hold an edge; knives, butcher, skinning and boning that are of the finest steel; lard presses that combine sausage stuffers; bristle scrapers that will get all the bristles, and scales for weighing your condiments are all here aplenty and of a sort that you'll have around the home for many years to come.

THE MOST DANGEROUS DISEASE

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to clog in their duties look out! Backache is in sight.

Find out what the trouble is without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness or have pains in the back or difficulty in passing urine, wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they be driven from your system.

Knitters Will Welcome This News---A New Shipment of Khaki Yarn

We have just unpacked a fresh shipment of khaki yarn and in plenty of time for knitting things for Christmas—if you intend to make this a useful-gift Christmas. The price is much lower than it will be later on.

Natural Colored Yarn At An Exceptionally Low Price

This is supposed to be the natural gray yarn but the color is a little off and while it does not effect the quality we cannot sell it for genuine "natural" yarn. We have priced for quick selling at 89c the skein.

Fleischer's Knitting Yarn

We still have some of this always dependable knitting yarn in several colors at the price that prevailed many months ago. This price—$1 the skein—will clean out the lot very quickly so we suggest early shopping.

YANKS ROUT HUN ON 100 MILE FRONT AT FINISH

FRENCT CO-OPERATION WITH THEM WAS RAPIDLY ENTRAPPING HUGE ARMY OF ENEMY NEAR SEDAN

HISTORIC SEDAN YANK OBJECTIVE

Germany apparently is in rout on the entire front from the Sombre to the Meuse. Official reports to the French war office today indicated that the enemy lines have crumbled along the whole front of nearly 100 miles. Gains were reported at all points on this front, and whereas communication bases have definitely fixed limits, the advance today according to the statement would indicate that it is very rapid.

The French have advanced at least 5 miles on the left flank, clearing the forests of Morevon and Rengnaval and are near the town of Hirson from which they are now 7 miles distant. Capture of this town will close the northern exit for the German army southwest of Ardennes completely entrapping the enemy. At one point where the French line joins with the American first army, French cavalry have gone into action and are reported to be approaching the Meuse between Sedan and Mezieres.

The Americans have resumed their advance astride the Muse. They are within 4 miles of Sedan and are rapidly approaching that historic city. The Germans are reported withdrawing north of Sedan. The capture of Montely seems imminent.

REVOLUTION BREAKS OUT IN DIFFERENT PARTS OF GERMANY

A revolution was reported to have been in progress in Schleswig-Holstein, sections of Prussia taken from Denmark one half century ago.

Hamburg, the greatest commercial center of the continent was also reported to be seething with revolution. Military and naval forces have seized the important military and naval bases.

The crimson banner is said to be flying in Kiel, Hamburg and other cities in northern Germany, according to reports from several sources.

The battleships Kaiser and Schleswig-Holstein were seized by naval revolutionists at Kiel. (The Kaiser is a dreadnought of 27,000 tons and the Schleswig-Holstein is an older vessel of 13,500 tons.)

IRA C. M'CLOSKEY DEPUTY MARSHAL

United States Marshal John F. Short of the Western District of Pennsylvania has appointed ex-Sheriff Ira C. McCloskey as one of his deputies. The new appointment takes effect at once and Sheriff McCloskey was summoned to Pittsburgh yesterday to take up his new duties.

The appointment of Mr. McCloskey is an exceptionally popular one

with Democrats and Clearfield county people generally.

The new deputy is a Clearfield boy and served as Sheriff of Clearfield county from 1914 to 1918. He was the youngest sheriff our county ever had and about the very best officer to fill that responsible position in recent years. He is especially well fitted for his new duties and his host of Clearfield county friends rejoice with him over his appointment.

"77's" BOOM PUNCTUATES GUNPIT SERMON

Boys at the Front Refuse to have Their Sabbath Service Interrupted by Crash of Hun Shells—Sit Intent, Listening to Homely Phrases of Itinerant Evangelist Who Had Come Far to Talk to Them.

BY MAXIMILLIAN FOSTER

PARIS, Sept. 1.—The gunpit stood at the end of a little wood, artfully hidden by a camouflage of interwoven branches twined into an arbor overhead. In the midst of this the gun, a blunt-nosed howitzer, squatted like a toad, its grim, significant viciousness contrasting strangely with the quiet of the green fields and the thicket surrounding it. The day was Sunday.

There are no Sabbaths in this war. The day was Sunday, true, but it is the way of war that you do murder on Sundays or weekdays, seven days in the week. Remembering this, it was queer to see what was going on in that gunpit. Fifty or sixty khaki-clad boys were clustered in the slight depression. Some sat on their bunkers, resting their backs against the gun-carriage. Others stretched themselves on the trampled earth and there were some prone in the grass at the gunpit's edge. War may not stop for Sundays, yet these sixty boys were there for Sabbath worship.

CIRCUIT-RIDER IN FRANCE

The preacher stood at the center of the pit. He was a man of fifty or thereabouts—tall, spare, angular, with grizzled hair and stooping shoulders—a plain, awkward fellow—a man of the people. Three generations ago, any Sunday morning, you might have seen one of his kind, riding his rounds in the backwoods region of some Far Western community, bent on carrying the Gospel from one outlying congregation to another. This was what this man was doing, too. His type may long have passed in America, but in France that itinerant evangel, the circuit-rider, seems to have come into his own again.

This one had ridden far to-day. He had come up from behind the lines, making his way to the front by railroad and army truck. The last few miles of the journey he did afoot, trudging with his pack and bedding roll along a shell-swept road unsafe for any vehicle. As it was, every now and then a shell would come trundling over the crest of the hill nearby and fall with a flat, clattering crash in the fields alongside. The preacher, however, had not seemed to think of that. The small leather-bound volume in his hand—his book of texts—seemed to occupy him more. It was a serious business for him this business of his Sunday text. He must pick one appropriate to the occasion.

UNIFORM DUST COVERED

His congregation rose as he came among them. His uniform, the same as theirs, was rumpled and dishevelled, too. Dust and mud covered it. Dust, too, covered his face, the dust of the roads he had trudged that day. As for the man himself, lank and ungainly, he stood there filled with awkward shyness. One would have said, certainly, there was nothing very heroic in his looks.

But the boys in khaki did not seem to think of that. Most of them came forward to greet him personally. As he stretched out his hand to them, the mussed, rumpled, uniform gathered in ill-fitting hillocks on his arms and shoulders. There was nothing very smart, very swagger, about that uniform. It looked as if its wearer often had slept in it. On the right arm blazed the Red Triangle of the Y. M. C. A.

"Hello, Doc," the boys in khaki said to him. "Hello, boys," he replied.

TALKED BOYS' LANGUAGE

One does not remember the text he gave that day. The preacher in fact, lacked much that would have made him prominent and popular in, say, a New York or a Chicago congregation. However, he had something about him that many an eminent divine might have given much to possess. What it was one cannot say readily, but all he said his hearers seemed vividly to comprehend. He talked to them in their own language—the language boys can understand. They did not wriggle or squirm or scuffle their feet as boys do in church at home. They sat intent. As I say, I do not remember what the text was he chose that day. There was an interruption just as he uttered it.

The shell—it was a 77—came by way of the woods a mile or more beyond. One heard it coming before it struck. Where it hit was fifty yards or more from the gunpit's edge. Having finished the text, half of it unheard, the preacher's face turned inquiringly toward the spot where a shower of earth, rocks and other debris had ascended skyward in a sudden belch of flame and smoke and dust. The crash that came with it shook one's teeth but the preacher seemed not jarred. As rocks and earth came thudding back to the ground, his inquiring eyes turned again to his congregation.

Some of the boys had stirred abruptly. One had at the edge of the gunpit had gone rabbitting over the crest, and now was hidden from view. The preacher smiled, his bony features expressive of whimsical humor.

Crrrrk—Blam! thudded another shell. The Hun evidently was feeling out the range.

"Boys, you know more about these things than I do," said the preacher. "Shall I go on or wait awhile?"

Blam! Another shell. This one, though, was further off.

"Go on, Doc!" shouted back the boys.

One does not recall much of the sermon. It was punctuated at intervals with those emphatic exclamation points. One not accustomed to war's alarms listened more to those resounding 77's than to the labored, homely awkward figures of speech falling from the preacher's lips. But between times it was evident that the others, those boys in khaki, listened. All of them sat there still intent. Not once but half a dozen times the preacher had to pause, warned by the ripping clatter of a big one, tearing by close at hand. More than once, too, one of them exploding in the field alongside, flinging its splinters into the gunpit.

ASKED TO COME BACK

When the preacher's talk was finished, he picked up his pack and bedding roll, his book of texts safely in his pocket. One by one the boys in khaki came up to bid him goodbye. "So long, Doc," they said to him. "Come again soon, will you?"

"You bet, boys," was the reply.

Up the road as he hurried along to the next place—a dugout in the trenches—the shells still were bursting in the fields. The preacher still did not seem to heed them.

"Yes," he chuckled, "I always tell the boys they know more about those things than I do. That's so they can light out if they like, and not seem impolite."

Then he smiled anew, this time at the distance. "Queer, but th always stay. They want someon to talk to them, those boys. Kin of pathetic, too. I've got a couple of boys—boys of my own, you know—over here in the trenches. That's what set me to thinking. I wondered if they had anyone to talk to, and that made me wonder who was talking to all the other boys. So I came along."

JUST A BUSINESS MAN

My preacher, I came to find out, was not even an ordained preacher. He had been a business man in a Middle Western town.

"It's a great work," he said, "only I wish sometimes I could speak a little better. It's wonderful the way the boys like someone to talk to them. It don't seem to matter much what a fellow talks about; they're crazy to hear him. Maybe it brings 'em a little nearer home."

I looked at him in the dusk. One forgot for the moment his ungainliness, that and the quaint uncouthness of his speech. Many famous men, women too, are over here talking to the boys. The Y. M. C. A. brings them over on every ship; but about this one man was something I say any one would give to have. It was the exaltation of simple earnestness. In the dusk, as he trudged along, his face seemed to shine.

So the circuit rider of old has come into his own again.

STATE AND NATIONAL ELECTION NEWS PARAGRAPHED

T. R. Sees in the election returns a victory for the unconditional surrender plan and pure Americanism.

While the Pennsylvania legislature looks "wet" there are a number of unpledged candidates who could shift the vote on the federal amendment to a "dry" victory.

Ford has been left slightly behind in the Michigan contest. There is talk of a contest on the vote.

Up to this morning, President Wilson has had no comment to make on the results.

In contests for U. S. Senate the Republicans have unseated Democrats in Kansas, Illinois, Colorado, Delaware, Missouri and New Hampshire, a gain of six votes but lost Massachusetts, cutting the number down to five.

New Mexico and Idaho are still in the doubtful column at noon today on U. S. Senate but in both states the Republicans are slightly leading.

It is believed the complexion of the Senate will be 49 Republicans to 47 Democrats. It is possible that the New Mexico and Idaho Republicans will increase the Republican lead to 51.

Late returns give the Republicans 226 seats in the House and the Democrats 196. This however is subject to slight changes.

Kephart and Simpson will grace the Supreme Court bench while Judge Porter has been elected to the Superior court.

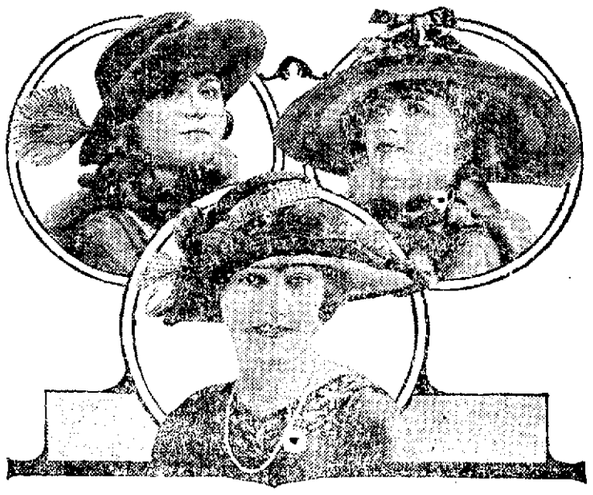
The Roard Bond Amendment went through by a majority of better than 200,000.

Special will have the greatest majority ever given to a Pennsylvania governor. It will be well over 200,000.

Ohio went into the dry column after many years of voting on the question.

No women were elected to Congress although a number were candidate Miss Rankin of Colorado, at present in Congress, was defeated.

Midwinter Hats More Colorful



For some reason the millinery of midwinter is more colorful and somewhat more elaborate than that which ushered in the fall season, although the simply trimmed hat cannot be outclassed. But variety is the spice of millinery as well as of life, and some of the latest arrivals in the assemblies of midwinter hats are far from simple.

The hat at the center of the picture is an instance of this new departure. In the face of a vogue for sedate colors and meager trimmings, its designer has chosen to be audacious and has vindicated her choice by making a beautiful hat. It is a picturesque model with a wide brim, faced with rose-colored crepe and edged with a double frill of velvet in that cool brown called "elephant." The brim is wider at the left side than elsewhere and has an many graceful turns and curves as the edge of a flower petal. A wide tendency of small curling ostrich beads—which is the millinery name for little plumes such as are in place on it and the rest of the same shade of velvet. The crown is rather high and lifts at the left side, a bunch of curled feather [illegible]

[illegible] quite a lot of [illegible] wide intervals at the upper edge of the [illegible] little ostrich [illegible] in the [illegible] gracious sprig [illegible]

Another [illegible] at the right of the picture, brings [illegible] theater parties—weddings and all sorts of bright assemblies. It is of taupe velvet faced with silk in three colors, pale rose, blue and lavender, in bands inside a border of taupe on the underbrim. It is one of the few very wide-brimmed hats that have flourished in the midst of much more numerous small ones.

At the left a brown beaver hat with a crushed collar of velvet about the crown has only a fancy pompon of mounted ostrich for ornament. There is a furore for beaver hats and therefore it is sure of as much consideration as its more trimmed rivals.

HERE'S A CHAPLAIN PREACHING TO OUR BOYS, WHO HAS A RIGHT TO TITLE OF "SKY PILOT"

Here is a real "sky pilot." This picture shows a chaplain conducting Sunday morning services at an aerodrome "somewhere in France," from a most unusual pulpit. Lacking a pipe organ and a surpliced choir, the chaplain and his congregation are doing very well with the aid of a band. His right to the title of "sky pilot" is vouched for by several aviators with whom he made flights at the front.

EVERY DAY LUNCHEONS.

ICE, tasty hot soup is a dish which is worth while to serve for beginning of the noonday meal. The kind of soup depends upon taste, season and the amount one wishes to expend. A simple cream soup is wholesome, easy to prepare and inexpensive, so why slight the cream soup?

Cream of Cheese Soup.—Slice a large onion into a pint of water and boil until tender. Remove the onion and add two cupfuls of milk with a pinch of soda. Pour this liquid upon one tablespoonful of butter and flour cooked together. When the mixture thickens add half a cupful of grated cheese and one well beaten egg. Season with salt and pepper and serve hot. Do not boil after adding the egg.

Corn and Chicken Soup.—Use six cupfuls of water in which a chicken has been cooked. Add one cupful of corn and half a cupful of chicken cut very fine. Season with salt, red pepper and celery salt. Simmer half an hour, then add a tablespoonful of butter and half a cupful of milk. Bring to the boiling point and serve. To make a richer and more nourishing soup, an egg yolk may be added.

Quick Bread Pudding.—Cut thin slices of bread into two-inch squares and arrange in a buttered baking-dish with layers of raisins, chopped figs, or canned grated pineapple. Pour over it a pint of milk in which an egg has been stirred, add a little honey for sweetening and bake about twenty minutes.

Spiced Apples With Cider.—Take a cupful each of brown sugar and cider, one-fourth of a cupful of good vinegar, two bay leaves, twenty whole cloves, six whole allspice, two inches of cinnamon and a blade of mace. Put into a saucepan and bring to a boil. Pare and core eight tart apples cut in quarters, add to the sirup and simmer gently until tender. Skim out and boil down the sirup until it is thick as honey, pour over the fruit and serve very cold with cake.

Nellie Maxwell

Michigan and South Dakota voted for woman suffrage.

Smith leads by 10,001 for governor of New York and is conceded to be elected. Whitman, Republican, was defeated by the Socialist Democrats of New York City.

Florida, Washington and Wyoming went into the dry column for keeps but a close vote fails to establish the status of Minnesota and Nevada. Colorado and California rejected the amendment.

OBSERVE FLU RULES AND HELP TO GET THE BAN LIFTED

The influenza situation according to the reports of the physicians was not as satisfactory as was hoped for and while the number of cases in the hospitals is gradually getting smaller many more cases appear to be developing in the homes where the disease had obtained a foothold. There were at last thirty new cases reported for Tuesday and while they or some of them appear to be of the milder type the fact of their being influenza is enough to warrant the belief that proper care is not being taken in all cases to prevent the disease spreading.

This should not be and all who have not already done so should waken up to this fact. The town has been closed up tight for two weeks now while many business places have been closed for four weeks and the embargo is beginning to work a hardship on some of our business people even greater than conditions warrant they should sacrifice and in justice to everybody, all should endeavor to their utmost stamp out the disease and let business and affairs generally resume their normal course.

The scourging of the disease and the wide-spread sorrow due to so many deaths is having an undesirable effect on the community generally and the sooner the gloom can be thrown off by a resumption of the usual activities of the community the better it will be for all.

Let us be more vigilant in our efforts against the disease and thus make it possible to lift the ban in Clearfield just as soon as it is possible and safe to do so.

Some idea of the awful ravages of the influenza epidemic in communities where it is prevalent may be gained from the experience of a Tyler family. On October 17th Joseph Palcatell, a well known Italian resident, died leaving a wife and five children. Since that time the mother and every child but a little girl three years of age succumbed to the disease.

KNUCKLE TO ARMISTICE TERMS LAID DOWN BY INTER ALLIED COUNSEL AT VERSAILLES

THE UNITED PRESS CARRIES FIRST NEWS TO U. S.

GERMANY'S REPRESENTATIVES ACCEPTED TERMS AT 11 A. M. WARFARE CEASED AT 2 O'CLOCK, P. M.

The world war is over. Germany accepted the American-Allied armistice terms at eleven o'clock this morning and fighting ceased three hours later.

The last big local victory of the war was won by the American troops who advanced several miles and took the historic city of Sedan.

Marshal Foch's terms are known to preclude a possibility of resumption of war by Germany.

The army organization of the Kaiser has been so effectively eliminated that nothing remains but a sorry sight.

At the same time the armistice was signed allies were smashing forward over a 150 mile front from the Scheide to the Meuse, tearing the enemy defenses to pieces and taking terrible toll of the remaining army—a sorry remnant of a magnificent fighting machine which went boldly forward in 1914 to make German power supreme throughout the world.

The American smash that took Sedan penetrated the German lines to a depth of more than 4 miles and on various sectors the French and British advanced to a depth of from 3 to 6 miles.

A revolution started in Germany immediately after word was received that the armistice was signed. Many authorities declare this incipient revolution will be one of bloodiest revolutions of history.

Germany Lost Four Million Men

Germany has lost four million men killed in war and as many are blind, crippled for life and are nervous wrecks. The country is practically bankrupt but will be called upon yet to pay indemnities running into billions for destruction of Allied property and shipping.

Kaiser Is Out

That the Kaiser was forced to accept humiliating terms that will provide for the overthrow of his own house is certain although no details have been made public this afternoon.

His partnership with God is dissolved. The best that he can do is to escape with his own life. Before the terms were submitted to Germany the Kaiser was forced to appeal to Marshal Foch and Admiral Weymess, as military and naval representatives of the Allies under a flag of truce.

Wilson Calm

President Wilson was informed of the signing of the armistice by the United Press which received first news of it in this country. The flash was signed by Roy W. Howard, President of the United Press in charge of the organization in France and by Wm. Phillip Simms, United Press staff correspondent who has been with the British and French on the western front during the entire war. After President Wilson Secretary Tumulty and Secretary of War Baker were the first to hear from the United Press of the signing of the armistice. President Wilson took it calmly. He was before his desk piled up with work talking to visitors when he was handed the news announcement. He made no comment, and a few minutes later when handed more details of the signing he smiled and said "Good". The general staff received the word through the center censorship office. Shortly after Baker learned the news Lansing received a United Press cable.

By J. W. P. MASON
(United Press Expert)

The end of the war has come with the German army down on its knees and compelled to accept unconditional surrender. The final day of hostilities finds half of the German forces in France trapped south of Ardennes by the brilliant offensive of the American army which closed the Luxemburg way of retreat and took Sedan in a series of remarkable feats which extended during the final week of the conflict.

Germany's frantic effort to get out of France and Belgium would have annihilated all of the German military power. There is no truth that the last phase of the war has shown Germany as master in the art of retreat. Her effort to reach her own border was a ghastly failure. The end of the war finds Hindenburg only half way home to reach the Rhine.

Germany's defeat is complete overwhelming of utter ruin. No more will we hear of the Iron Prussia. The forces of democracy dealt the knock out blow which sent Germany's return to feudal despotism.

Now the pitfalls of the peace table are for a divided house. Germany's last stand will be at the peace table where here defeat will be complete.

CELEBRATE TONIGHT AT 8

VICTORY PARADE TONIGHT

The loyal patriotic people of Clearfield and vicinity are invited to participate in a joyous celebration this evening to properly commemorate the great news of the triumph of the Allied arms and the ending of the huge world war.

We will have a parade and other observances beginning at 8 o'clock. Let everybody be in line.

JOHN M. CHASE,
Burgess.

FLU BAN NOT LIFTED HERE FRIDAY

It can be definately stated that the influenza order to close poolrooms and public meetings of all kinds will not be lifted in Clearfield county on Friday.

To prepare themselves for more essential service a group of University of Chicago women is organizing the Women's Student Training Corps to secure from its members definite training for some particular work needed by the nation.

After a year in New York the order prohibiting the wearing of veils by women has been lifted.

OUR RECORD

During the last few months we have the present management of The Progress has never permitted the posting of a bulletin unless it was based on fact and truth. It is with extreme pelasure that we can record today the glorious privilege of bringing the first news of the termination of the war to Clearfield people. Some time ago when peace rumors were persistent we said that when peace came, the United Press would be the first to tell not only Clearfield but the entire nation as well. Our faith in the organization to which we belong is justified again in this case. Clearfield people can always depend on Progress news.

GOING UP!

The three marshalls. Thomas R., Foch and Short.

GETTING READY

Ira McCloskey, the boy sheriff, is happy over his appointment as a Deputy U. S. Marshall and we are happy with him because he is a king among good fellows. The popularity of this young Democrat is probably one of the chief reasons why he was selected for the place. Something must be done in this part of Pennsylvania to strengthen the bailiwick of the real U. S. Marshall politically and this fact is better realized by the U. S. Marshall than anyone else. However, there are a lot of job-hungry Democrats who will remember that McCloskey has had several years of good, juicy salary off the county and will not be able to see why he should be handed another plum when he is hardly through extracting the nectar from the last one. These Democrats have peculiar ideas about such things.

MAYHEM TO THE GERMAN EMPIRE

There was a time when the Kaiser spoke with fiendish glee of his strong arm methods. Favorite phrases in his military vocabulary were "my mailed fist" and "the iron heel of Prussia". The Yanks are not such bad fellows but they have been committing mayhem on the realm of Kaiser Wilhelm ever since the first crew went over. Down at Chateau-Thierry the devil dogs took a few bites at that iron heel and we have not heard anything about it since. Then again in the Soissons salient they gave the Hun a pretty good squeezing in those pincers between Rheims and Soissons and that must be where the Kaiser lost the fingers on the mailed fist. Just what happened to the anatomy of the German autocrats at St. Mihiel is a matter of conjecture, but that it was a "dutch rub" is amply proven by the way in which they beat it for the rear lines. With all this injury being done to the German military machine there is yet remaining the most dangerous part of his makeup—the head. Let us hope that in the armistice terms there is some provision for removing the head from that horrible monstrosity of a man who paraded for years as a partner of a just God in Heaven.

Originally the Finlanders were fire-worshippers, and to this fact, doubtless, may be traced the custom, never neglected at midsummer and other seasons, of lighting on the hills bonfires, around which the country folk dance, while they join their voices in musical chorus. At the coast this traditional fire is often lit upon a raft some short distance from the shore, and there the festive throng row in a circle, singing almost as long as the flames continue to illuminate the somewhat weird scene.

The roar of a waterfall is produced almost entirely by the bursting of millions of air-bubbles.

Hartford, Conn., has a new building 790 feet high, one of the six tallest buildings in the world.

Rev. H. G. C. Hallock, of Shanghai, has compiled a Chineses concordance. It is in three volumes and contains 400,000 direct or indirect Bibles references, using over 5,000,000 Chinese characters.

A large number of women of China have distinguished themselves as poets, and in a great biographical dictionary of sixteen hundred and twenty eight volumes, three hundred and seventy-six are devoted to the lives of great Chinese women.

Although the list of New York women seeking public office at the election next month is not a long one, including only about 125 names, still it is a list that covers nearly every office in state, county city and village.

Supporters of woman suffrage in Louisiana are pursuing a vigorous campaign to secure the adoption of the suffrage amendment to the state constitution at the election next month.

Ninety-four per cent. of the entire population of Alaska is enlisted in the membership of the Red Cross.

Of the 2,141,000 persons employed in the metal trades in the United States, nearly 100,000 are women over 16 years of age.

Night driving is stripped of its dangers when you ride behind the Dillon Lens.

You feel that you are riding in a path of soft, mellow daylight. There is plenty of side light, plenty of front light, but no shadows and no direct beams. Just a great nearly square path of illumination free from glare, safe and legal.

A light that is tonic for the nerves, and that gives you the same confidence at night that you have in day driving.

Relief from Eczema

Don't worry about eczema or other skin troubles. You can have a clear, healthy skin by using a little zemo, obtained at any drug store for 35c, or extra large bottle at $1.00.

Zemo generally removes pimples, blackheads, blotches, eczema, and ringworm and makes the skin clear and healthy. Zemo is a clean, penetrating, antiseptic liquid, neither sticky nor greasy and stains nothing. It is easily applied and costs a mere trifle for each application. It is always dependable.

Eventually, it is said, all women war workers under the control of the United States government will be required to wear a uniform of battle-ship gray, with the possible exception of the women motor drivers, who now wear uniforms of tan color, and the yeowomen, who will retain their blue costumes.

The names of twenty-three women will appear on the ballots at the coming election as candidates for seats in the New York state assembly.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. A little of this fragrant antiseptic cream put in your nostrils and let it penetrate. It goes to every air passage of your head, soothes and heals the inflamed swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

An ideal way to treat. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, you can breathe easily, sniffling, sneezing, no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. Its a delight.

To Prevent The Spread of Influenza

The Board of Health advises that all rooms be well ventilated.

Drafts should be avoided.

To get fresh air without drafts, use Sanitary Cloth Window Screens. They keep out drafts, but let fresh air come in. They keep out dust, dirt and rain.

They are inexpensive.

You should have them in all your windows.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE
BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CIRCUS ELEPHANTS.

"I am the leader of the great parade," said Babe. Now Babe was the biggest elephant belonging to the circus. She always led the procession and also she led the way from the big trains of cars down to the circus grounds.

"You're Right, Old Boy."

How often she had been in the circus performances and sometimes she would think to herself: "I don't believe anyone will come to see our performance today."

She would sometimes say this aloud, swinging her trunk as she spoke, and Matty, another elephant, would say: "What makes you think that?"

"Well," said Babe, "I've been in the circus business for years and years and years. We are the members of a very big, three ringed circus, and we travel to big cities as well as to small towns."

(In the cities Babe led the way through streets down to the circus building. She also would lead the way from one small place to another if the distance was not so very great.)

"What has all of that got to do with your speech about thinking there won't be many coming to the circus today?"

"Just this," said Babe. "It seems to me that every single man, woman and child in the whole world has seen my tricks. They have seen us all put our front feet upon each other and stand over the keeper who would lie on the ground. We would do it just so, and would never step on the keeper. Oh no, we could never make such a mistake. And the people would hold their breath and say: 'How does that man dare do that? Just suppose that an elephant should step on him!'

"But we wouldn't step on our nice, kind keeper. Oh no! Oh no!"

And Matty swung her trunk high up in the air and said, "Oh no! Oh no!"

"Well," continued Babe, "I don't see why folks all over the world aren't through seeing the circus. We have done our tricks for years and years, beautiful ladies have ridden bareback on white horses, bears have ridden bicycles or skated on roller skates, clowns have cracked jokes and laughed and gone around with painted faces.

"Girls and men have swung way up in the air on trapezes, ladies have walked along narrow ropes, carrying parasols. Men have swung by their hair, ladies by their teeth.

"Some folks have sung, others have worn snakes, some have ridden in chariots. Yes, all sorts of tricks have been performed and as long as I can remember elephants have always been a part of the circus. I have always led the parade of this circus and have always known the way from town to town, from station to circus ground."

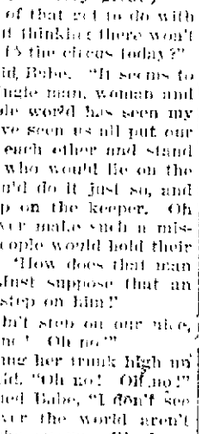
"They say elephants are famous for their memories," said Matty, "and you certainly live up to that saying for you have a wonderful memory, all right."

"It's just as easy to remember things as to forget them," said Babe modestly.

"Every one doesn't feel that way about it," said Matty. "Most creatures find it easier to forget."

"But really," continued Babe, "I don't believe anyone will come to the circus today. We've performed for such crowds that we must have performed for every living person. And I think perhaps we'll find that no one will come for a time because every one has seen us so many years.

"We'll have to begin again in a few years, for those who are babies now will be children later on and they will want to see the circus. But I have my doubts about anyone coming today."



Skated on Roller Skates.

"Ah Babe," said Matty, "you are a very wise elephant and your memory and your tricks make you very fine and wonderful, but one thing you don't know which I do — and that is that folks don't come to see a circus once—they come again and again and again.

"For a circus is a circus and there is nothing else like it, so you need never worry about people not coming because they've all seen the circus before.

"People will always come to a circus as long as there are grown-ups and children, and as long as there is a circus to come to."

And as Babe looked around the circus tent and saw the people coming in crowds to their seats she nodded his trunk and said:

RUSSEL FLEGAL WAS KILLED IN ACTION ON OCTOBER 7TH

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Flegal received an official notice from the War Department last evening, which conveyed the sad announcement that their eldest son, Russell, had been killed in action in France on October 7th last.

Russell Flegal was born in Clearfield twenty-four years ago last April, and spent his entire life here. He was a graduate of the Clearfield High School and during his school years took an active interest in athletics. He was an expert football and basket ball player and a general all round athlete.

Shortly after war was declared he enlisted in the United States Marine Corps and went with about the first bunch of that hard-fighting organization to the battle fields of France. He went through about all the big battles in which the Marines participated and was gassed and slightly wounded in March last.

Following his recovery he went back into the line and was at Chateau-Thierry, Belleau Wood and the many other fields in that region made memorable for all time in the history of warfare by the bravery and skill of the Marines and American doughboys.

In his last letter home, written a few days before his death, he told a thrilling story of his experiences and graphically pictured the dangers and hardships of the soldier's life.

He was an exemplary boy and his legion of Clearfield friends sympathize deeply with his sorrowing parents in their bereavement and sorrow.

Besides his parents he is also survived by three brothers, viz:—Horace, in the Navy; Walter at the Officers' Training School at Camp Taylor, Ky., and John, at home.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Leo Dugan, nee Gussie Dougherty, died at her home in Osceola last evening at 5.50 o'clock, of pneumonia following a severe attack of influenza.

The deceased was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dougherty, of Park avenue. When a little child she was taken to live with her maiden aunts and spent almost her entire life in Clearfield. She was possessed of a charming personality and had many warm friends in this community.

In May, 1917, she was united in marriage with Leo Dugan, of Osceola, and had since resided there. When the influenza epidemic struck Osceola Mr. and Mrs. Dugan were both taken down with it and both developed pneumonia. The husband remains critically ill at his home.

The funeral will be held at Osceola Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment in the Catholic cemetery there.

Since 1870 the German general staff has always held Metz to be the principal pivot against France and maintained there a peace garrison of 25,000 men. The city is surrounded by a veritable network of massive forts, armored batteries, infantry positions, countless shelters, and magazines to supply the lines and ways of safe communication.

FLU TOLL HAS HIT DUBOIS DISTRICT QUITE HEAVILY

According to the reports made by physicians yesterday at the daily conference held, the influenza situation is showing improvement in regard to the number of new cases. A total of eleven new cases were given by the physicians who reported and it is figured that there were about thirty altogether. One physician stated that the influenza now prevailing seems to be of milder form than when the disease broke out. There is every reason to believe that the tentative schedule of the lifting of the ban will be followed out and that on Friday there will be a partial opening of business places and amusements. The theatres are already advertising their attractions, while several dances have been advertised.

No deaths from influenza were reported by the undertakers yesterday.

It is interesting to note the ravages of the influenza epidemic that prevailed during the month of October, as shown by the death statistics compiled by Registrar Frank Tutton. It it noted that the disease was even more general than the daily publication of deaths would indicate. Close to one hundred families in the city of DuBois felt the presence of the death angel, bringing sorrow to the hearts of the members.

There was a total of 137 deaths in this district, which includes DuBois, Sandy, Brady and Union townships. These were divided as follows: DuBois 95; Sandy 37; Brady 4, and Union 1. Of these, influenza and its complications resulted in the death of 102 in the district. This is certainly a heavy tool for the disease.

Last October there was only a total of 24 deaths in the district, divided as follows: DuBois 14; Sandy 6; Brady 4; Union none. There was a total of 192 deaths in the entire district last year, so it will be seen that the total for October of this year is approaching close to the entire total of last year.

WANTON FIRING BY UNKNOWN HUNTER YESTERDAY

What appears to be wanton shooting of two young lads occurred yesterday morning along the B. & S. railroad in the vicinity of the Joe Hand dam, when an unknown hunter, on his way to the woods, fired promiscuously at a B. & S. repair gang, wounding two young men. The wounded lads are Thornton Woods, of Highland street, and James Shaw, of Oklahoma. Woods received a buckshot through the cheek, while Shaw had pellets driven into his neck and chest.

There was no excuse for the shooting other than a hasty temper on the part of the hunter. The nimrod was traveling along the railroad with his dog, when one of the lads whistled at the animal. The hunter immediately became angered, it is alleged, and lifted his gun, fired in the direction of the whistler. Fortunately only a few scattered shots reached the boys. In the excitement that followed the hunter made his escape.

After receiving medical attention the young lads were advised to get out warrants, but in view of the fact that they have no idea whom the hunter was it is probable that no arrests will follow.—DuBois Courier.

WELL KNOWN O'SHANTER MAN DIES

Adam Hutchinson, the well known hotel man, died at his home in O'Shanter yesterday morning of pneumonia following an attack of influenza from which he had been suffering for a couple of weeks.

He was about 50 years of age and leaves a widow and large family of children.

CENSOR GIVES "BILL" PRIZE FOR LETTER

London, Nov. 7—The censor gets gray hair early wading through a lot of wild letters, but the following, taken from an American doughboy at an English port has gained him the reputation as the "prize liar" of the war:

"Dear Mother and the Folks—We hadn't no more than got out of sight of New York than you could see submarines bobbing up all around us. Tht periscopes were as thick as cattails in a swamp. I counted seventy-five, and then the ships began to fire.

"The gunner near me fainted. Shell-shock, I guess. I sprang to the gun and began shooting. The first shot I fired hit a submarine square on top at the back, and tore out its whole backbone, just like tearing out a while's backbone. There was blood all over the water and some oil.

"I kept on shooting. I sank twelve of the submarines myself. The battle lasted a good while and I heard fifty of the submarines had been destroyed. None of us was killed. The submarines, what was left, finally left us. We haven't seen any more of them. Give this to the papers. Love to all the folks from your soldier boy,

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

The other day Bud Smith met with a rather peculiar accident. He was cranking an automobile when by some means his hold on the crank slipped, jerking his head forward and downward bringing his probocis in contact with an iron bar injuring it so severely that the attention of a medical man was required.

Robert Chilcote, a South Side youth was engaged in playing foot ball yesterday afternoon and was unfortunate in slipping and falling to the ground with such force as to break several bones in one of his arms.

Miss Lou V. Hipps, who is employed in the George K. Klines big store in Johnstown, and who has been home on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hipps, South Filbert street, left yesterday for Johnstown ot resume her duties in the store.

John Kelly who is considered to be one of the most successful hunters in these mountains, informed the writer yesterday that he had only managed to bag ten big squirrels so far this season. He also said that he saw more pheasants so far this season, than during the entire time of last year, and also stated that those birds were more plentiful than were rabbits. He said he could not account for it, but that the statement was true nevertheless.

Mrs. Harry Hoover, who has been a resident of Curwensville for some years, coming from Lock Haven to work in the Citizen's National bank just then started, and at its suspension taking a position with the Curwensville National bank and afterward becoming interested in the Bickford Store company, but for the past two years acting as a clerk in the Curwensville National bank, has resigned his position in that institution and will remove with his family to Harrisburg shortly. Just what business Mr. Hoover will engage in when settled in that city, the writer has not learned, but some say will engage in the mercantile trade with a brother. During Mr. Hoover's sojourn in Curwensville he has made many warm and lasting friends who will heartily wish him unbounded success in his new home and whatever business he may become engaged in. He was a valued helper in the Presbyterian Sunday school where he conducted an adult class the members of which will surely miss him.

Carl Owens killed two prize coons and had them in town on exhibition Tuesday. One of them weighed 37 pounds, while its mate tipped the beam at 40 pounds. All hunters who examined the animals pronounced them perfect specimens of their kind, in fact that they were two of the finest coons they had ever seen in years. The animals were killed in Knox township.

Progress man the following communication received yesterday from the commissioner of health of Pennsylvania, the subject being the removal of restrictions imposed during the influenza epidemic.

"It would seem as though the period of greatest danger from influenza is past in your county and that we may fix the time for removal of the restrictions imposed by this department.

"You are therefore authorized, usless some special conditions warrant continuing them longer, to remove restrictions on theatres, moving picture establishments and dance halls, and all meetings and on the sale of alcoholic beverages required by orders of October 3, 4, and 6th, on Friday November 8th at 12 o'clock noon.

"Private funerals shall be required, no matter what may have been the cause of death, for at least one week after November 8th.

J. M. BYERS,
Acting Com.

In conjunction with this order Curwensville authorities have decided to maintain the same strict quarantine regulations as have been in force for the past four weeks, one week longer or until the 15th. This is no hasty action of those in authority but was determined on after consulting with a large number of citizens, the opinion of the largest majority being that nothing would be lost by holding to the quarantine for another week longer. This decision may not be in favor with some now, but in looking backward a few years from now, will see the wisdom of the boards present action.

The houses down on the flat were thoroughly cleansed and fumigated yesterday. It required some hard manual labor but the job was thoroughly accomplished. No new cases were reported to the health board yesterday, and all those who are afflicted were reported to be getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances. No new patients were added to the emergency hospital. There are five cases there at present.

The election poll in both wards yesterday was a very light one. Not more than two thirds of the towns total vote was polled. The proposed $12,000 bond issue carried by 106 of a majority, the greatest opposition to it being in the Second ward. Both wards went Republican by a substantial majority. Why such a small number of borough voters failed to cast their ballots is incomprehensible, from the fact that heretofore Curwensville usually polled the large percentage of her vote, regardless of who was on the ticket to be voted for or whatever the question was to be voted upon.

Several cars of potatoes arrived in town yesterday and were unloaded at the ware house of several of our merchants. Potatoes are reported to be a pretty fair crop in this county and the selling price should not exceed $2.00 per bushel.

OSCEOLA MILLS

Although there is an improvement in the "flu" situation here there were two deaths yesterday from pneumonia following an attack of the influenza. W. I. Mole, the night foreman at the P. R. R. engine house, died at the home of Mr. Groner on Stone street. He is survived by his sorrowing wife, mother and sister who took the body to his former home at Altoona on the 4:50 p. m. train. Deceased was a member of the Hawk Run lodge I. O. O. F.

Mrs. Leo Dugan also passed away yesterday. She was one of the first victims of the disease in our town and after a partial recovery took a relapse and died also her husband. Both were moved to the Osceola House, the home of Mr. Dugan's parents, where several members of that family are afflicted, and where she died about 6:30 last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Henry were called to Lewistown on Tuesday where their son Herman is ill with influenza.

There were but nine patients at the emergency hospital last night. There [illegible] two there [illegible]

WILL KEEP RECORDS OF BRAVERY OF THE PENNSYLVANIA BOYS

Frederick Lauer of Lebanon, a corporal in the national army, recently wounded in France, is the first Pennsylvania man in the service to have his military record entered in the archives of the Pennsylvania War History commission. Corporal Lauer's grandmother, born in Berlin, is still living in ——— at the advanced age of ninety-five years, and it is the corporal's oft-expressed wish that he may visit his grandmother's birthplace in Berlin in company with a few other American soldiers on the other side

It is the intention of the commission to preserve a record of every Pennsylvanian who has entered the service, whether in the regular army, the national army, the national guards, the navy, or in welfare work. At the headquarters of the Pennsylvania war history commission, 1300 Locust street, Philadelphia, plans and preparations are being made for carrying out the enormous undertaking of recording the personal history of each man. A folder is to be set aside for each man reported to the commission, in which will be placed his photograph, a record of his life before enlistment or induction into the service, a record of his career in the army or navy, together with letters or newspaper clippings concerning his activities.

The commission expects to obtain the cooperation of local authorities, historical societies, schools and churches in preparing a complete list of Pennsylvanians who have gone into the service not only of the United States, but of the allied nations as well.

Parents and relatives of men who have been cited for bravery, or who have received promotions, or have been wounded, or have given their lives for their country"s cause, are requested to supply the commission with personal facts concerning the men in whom they are interested. The records thus preserved will be of immense value to future writers and historians and may find a place in histories of the war work of Pennsylvania as a whole, or of the several counties of the state.

All records may be sent to Dr. Albert McKinley, secretary of the war history commission of the Pennsylvania council of national defense, care of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, 13th and Locust streets, Philadelphia.

ban is to be lifted here Friday. The rumor that no one is allowed to enter or leave town is a myth.

The friends of Lt. W. Elbridge Brown will be pleased to know that his condition is slightly improved. His mother and sister are with him at Newport News.

Joseph Hobba has been honorably discharged from the active service and permitted to return home and help win the war by producing more coal.

GRAMPIAN

The store at Hepburnia is reopening under the management of James Pentecost.

Good Tools Will Lessen Butchering Time Labor

The labor of butchering time will be greatly lessened if you have the proper tools and—what's more important—have tools that are worth while.

Butchering tools are something that you do not want to buy every year so the best is the cheapest in the long run.

Tools of Quality

Don't let the great day catch you napping. Come in now and prepare. Meat cutters with cutting knives that cut; cleavers that will hold an edge; knives, butcher, skinning and boning that are of the finest steel; lard presses that combine sausage stuffers; bristle scrapers that will get all the bristles, and scales for weighing your condiments are all here aplenty and of a sort that you'll have around the home for many years to come.

THE MOST DANGEROUS DISEASE

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to clog in their duties look out! Poison is in sight.

Find out what the trouble is without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness or have pains in the back or difficulty in passing urine, wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they be driven from your system.

Knitters Will Welcome This News---A New Shipment of Khaki Yarn

We have just unpacked a fresh shipment of khaki yarn and in plenty of time for knitting things for Christmas—if you intend to make this a useful-gift Christmas. The price is much lower than it will be later on.

Natural Colored Yarn At An Exceptionally Low Price

This is supposed to be the natural gray yarn but the color is a little off and while it does not effect the quality we cannot sell it for genuine "natural" yarn. We have priced for quick selling at 89c the skein.

Fleischer's Knitting Yarn

We still have some of this always dependable knitting yarn in several colors at the price that prevailed many months ago. This price—$1 the skein—will clean out the lot very quickly so we suggest early shopping.

YANKS ROUT HUN ON 100 MILE FRONT AT FINISH

FRENCT CO-OPERATION WITH THEM WAS RAPIDLY ENTRAPPING HUGE ARMY OF ENEMY NEAR SEDAN

HISTORIC SEDAN YANK OBJECTIVE

Germany apparently is in rout on the entire front from the Sombre to the Meuse. Official reports to the French war office today indicated that the enemy lines have crumbled along the whole front of nearly 100 miles. Gains were reported at all points on this front, and whereas communication bases have definitely fixed limits, the advance today according to the statement would indicate that it is very rapid.

The French have advanced at least 5 miles on the left flank, clearing the forests of Morevon and Rengnaval and are near the town of Hirson from which they are now 7 miles distant. Capture of this town will close the northern exit for the German army southwest of Ardennes completely entrapping the enemy. At one point where the French line joins with the American first army, French cavalry have gone into action and are reported to be approaching the Meuse between Sedan and Mezieres.

The Americans have resumed their advance astride the Muse. They are within 4 miles of Sedan and are rapidly approaching that historic city. The Germans are reported withdrawing north of Sedan. The capture of Montely seems imminent.

REVOLUTION BREAKS OUT IN DIFFERENT PARTS OF GERMANY

A revolution was reported to have been in progress in Schleswig-Holstein, sections of Prussia taken from Denmark one half century ago.

Hamburg, the greatest commercial center of the continent was also reported to be seething with revolution. Military and naval forces have seized the important military and naval bases.

The crimson banner is said to be flying in Kiel, Hamburg and other cities in northern Germany, according to reports from several sources.

The battleships Kaiser and Schleswig-Holstein were seized by naval revolutionists at Kiel. (The Kaiser is a dreadnought of 27,000 tons and the Schleswig-Holstein is an older vessel of 13,500 tons.)

"77's" BOOM PUNCTUATES GUNPIT SERMON

Boys at the Front Refuse to have Their Sabbath Service Interrupted by Crash of Hun Shells—Sit Intent, Listening to Homely Phrases of Itinerant Evangelist Who Had Come Far to Talk to Them.

BY MAXIMILLIAN FOSTER

PARIS, Sept. 1.—The gunpit stood at the end of a little wood, artfully hidden by a camouflage of interwoven branches twined into an arbor overhead. In the midst of this the gun, a blunt-nosed howitzer, squatted like a toad, its grim, significant viciousness contrasting strangely with the quiet of the green fields and the thicket surrounding it. The day was Sunday.

There are no Sabbaths in this war. The day was Sunday, true, but it is the way of war that you do murder on Sundays or weekdays, seven days in the week. Remembering this, it was queer to see what was going on in that gunpit. Fifty or sixty khaki-clad boys were clustered in the slight depression. Some sat on their bunkers, resting their backs against the gun-carriage. Others stretched themselves on the trampled earth and there were some prone in the grass at the gunpit's edge. War may not stop for Sundays, yet these sixty boys were there for Sabbath worship.

CIRCUIT-RIDER IN FRANCE

The preacher stood at the center of the pit. He was a man of fifty or thereabouts—tall, spare, angular, with grizzled hair and stooping shoulders—a plain, awkward fellow—a man of the people. Three generations ago, any Sunday morning, you might have seen one of his kind, riding his rounds in the backwoods region of some Far Western community, bent on carrying the Gospel from one outlying congregation to another. This was what this man was doing, too. His type may long have passed in America, but in France that itinerant evangel, the circuit-rider, seems to have come into his own again.

This one had ridden far to-day. He had come up from behind the lines, making his way to the front by railroad and army truck. The last few miles of the journey he did afoot, trudging with his pack and bedding roll along a shell-swept road unsafe for any vehicle. As it was, every now and then a shell would come trundling over the crest of the hill nearby and fall with a flat, clattering crash in the fields alongside. The preacher, however, had not seemed to think of that. The small leather-bound volume in his hand—his book of texts—seemed to occupy him more. It was a serious business for him this business of his Sunday text. He must pick one appropriate to the occasion.

UNIFORM DUST COVERED

His congregation rose as he came among them. His uniform, the same as theirs, was rumpled and dishevelled, too. Dust and mud covered it. Dust, too, covered his face, the dust of the roads he had trudged that day. As for the man himself, lank and ungainly, he stood there filled with awkward shyness. One would have said, certainly, there was nothing very heroic in his looks.

But the boys in khaki did not seem to think of that. Most of them came forward to greet him personally. As he stretched out his hand to them, the mussed, rumpled, uniform gathered in ill-fitting hillocks on his arms and shoulders. There was nothing very smart, very swagger, about that uniform. It looked as if its wearer often had slept in it. On the right arm blazed the Red Triangle of the Y. M. C. A.

"Hello, Doc," the boys in khaki said to him. "Hello, boys," he replied.

TALKED BOYS' LANGUAGE

One does not remember the text he gave that day. The preacher in fact, lacked much that would have made him prominent and popular in, say, a New York or a Chicago congregation. However, he had something about him that many an eminent divine might have given much to possess. What it was one cannot say readily, but all he said his hearers seemed vividly to comprehend. He talked to them in their own language—the language boys can understand. They did not wriggle or squirm or scuffle their feet as boys do in church at home. They sat intent. As I say, I do not remember what the text was he chose that day. There was an interruption just as he uttered it.

The shell—it was a 77—came by way of the woods a mile or more beyond. One heard it coming before it struck. Where it hit was fifty yards or more from the gunpit's edge. Having finished the text, half of it unheard, the preacher's face turned inquiringly toward the spot where a shower of earth, rocks and other debris had ascended skyward in a sudden belch of flame and smoke and dust. The crash that came with it shook one's teeth but the preacher seemed not jarred. As rocks and earth came thudding back to the ground, his inquiring eyes turned again to his congregation.

Some of the boys had stirred abruptly. One had at the edge of the gunpit had gone rabbitting over the crest, and now was hidden from view. The preacher smiled, his bony features expressive of whimsical humor.

Crrrrk—Blam! thudded another shell. The Hun evidently was feeling out the range.

"Boys, you know more about these things than I do," said the preacher. "Shall I go on or wait awhile?"

Blam! Another shell. This one, though, was further off.

"Go on, Doc!" shouted back the boys.

One does not recall much of the sermon. It was punctuated at intervals with those emphatic exclamation points. One not accustomed to war's alarms listened more to those resounding 77's than to the labored, homely awkward figures of speech falling from the preacher's lips. But between times it was evident that the others, those boys in khaki, listened. All of them sat there still intent. Not once but half a dozen times the preacher had to pause, warned by the ripping clatter of a big one, tearing by close at hand. More than once, too, one of them exploding in the field alongside, flinging its splinters into the gunpit.

ASKED TO COME BACK

When the preacher's talk was finished, he picked up his pack and bedding roll, his book of texts safely in his pocket. One by one the boys in khaki came up to bid him goodbye. "So long, Doc," they said to him. "Come again soon, will you?"

"You bet, boys," was the reply.

Up the road as he hurried along to the next place—a dugout in the trenches—the shells still were bursting in the fields. The preacher still did not seem to heed them.

"Yes," he chuckled, "I always tell the boys they know more about those things than I do. That's so they can light out if they like, and not seem impolite."

Then he smiled anew, this time at the distance. "Queer, but th always stay. They want someon to talk to them, those boys. Kin of pathetic, too. I've got a couple of boys—boys of my own, you know—over here in the trenches. That's what set me to thinking. I wondered if they had anyone to talk to, and that made me wonder who was talking to all the other boys. So I came along."

JUST A BUSINESS MAN

My preacher, I came to find out, was not even an ordained preacher. He had been a business man in a Middle Western town.

"It's a great work," he said, "only I wish sometimes I could speak a little better. It's wonderful the way the boys like someone to talk to them. It don't seem to matter much what a fellow talks about; they're crazy to hear him. Maybe it brings 'em a little nearer home."

I looked at him in the dusk. One forgot for the moment his ungainliness, that and the quaint uncouthness of his speech. Many famous men, women too, are over here talking to the boys. The Y. M. C. A. brings them over on every ship; but about this one man was something I say any one would give to have. It was the exaltation of simple earnestness. In the dusk, as he trudged along, his face seemed to shine.

So the circuit rider of old has come into his own again.

IRA C. M'CLOSKEY DEPUTY MARSHAL

United States Marshal John F. Short of the Western District of Pennsylvania has appointed ex-Sheriff Ira C. McCloskey as one of his deputies. The new appointment takes effect at once and Sheriff McCloskey was summoned to Pittsburgh yesterday to take up his new duties.

The appointment of Mr. McCloskey is an exceptionally popular one

with Democrats and Clearfield county people generally.

The new deputy is a Clearfield boy and served as Sheriff of Clearfield county from 1914 to 1918. He was the youngest sheriff our county ever had and about the very best officer to fill that responsible position in recent years. He is especially well fitted for his new duties and his host of Clearfield county friends rejoice with him over his appointment.

A movement for woman suffrage has recently assumed definite form in the island of Jamaica.

STATE AND NATIONAL ELECTION NEWS PARAGRAPHED

T. R. Sees in the election returns a victory for the unconditional surrender plan and pure Americanism.

While the Pennsylvania legislature looks "wet" there are a number of unpledged candidates who could shift the vote on the federal amendment to a "dry" victory.

Ford has been left slightly behind in the Michigan contest. There is talk of a contest on the vote.

Up to this morning, President Wilson has had no comment to make on the results.

In contests for U. S. Senate the Republicans have unseated Democrats in Kansas, Illinois, Colorado, Delaware, Missouri and New Hampshire, a gain of six votes but lost Massachusetts, cutting the number down to five.

New Mexico and Idaho are still in the doubtful column at noon today on U. S. Senate but in both states the Republicans are slightly leading.

It is believed the complexion of the Senate will be 49 Republicans to 47 Democrats. It is possible that the New Mexico and Idaho Republicans will increase the Republican lead to 51.

Late returns give the Republicans 226 seats in the House and the Democrats 196. This however is subject to slight changes.

Kephart and Simpson will grace the Supreme Court bench while Judge Porter has been elected to the Superior court.

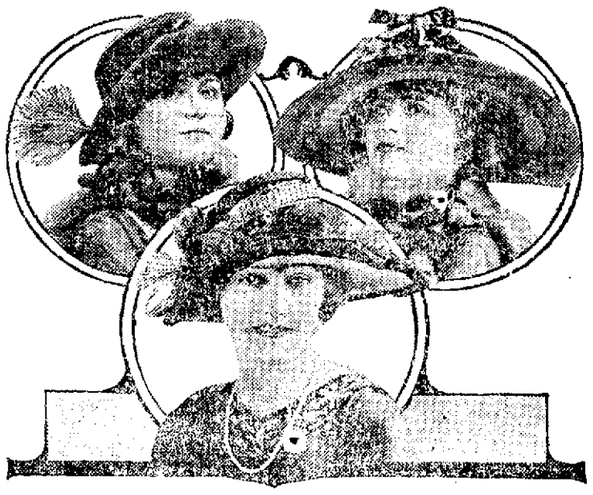
The Roard Bond Amendment went through by a majority of better than 200,000.

Special will have the greatest majority ever given to a Pennsylvania governor. It will be well over 200,000.

Ohio went into the dry column after many years of voting on the question.

No women were elected to Congress although a number were candidate Miss Rankin of Colorado, at present in Congress, was defeated.

Midwinter Hats More Colorful



For some reason the millinery of midwinter is more colorful and somewhat more elaborate than that which ushered in the fall season, although the simply trimmed hat cannot be outclassed. But variety is the spice of millinery as well as of life, and some of the latest arrivals in the assemblies of midwinter hats are far from simple.

The hat at the center of the picture is an instance of this new departure. In the face of a vogue for sedate colors and meager trimmings, its designer has chosen to be audacious and has vindicated her choice by making a beautiful hat. It is a picturesque model with a wide brim, faced with rose-colored crepe and edged with a double frill of velvet in that cool brown called "elephant." The brim is wider at the left side than elsewhere and has as many graceful turns and curves as the edge of a flower petal. A white cockatoo of small outline ostrich heads—which is the millinery name for little ostrich tips—is on the brim on it and the end of the same shade of velvet. The crown is rather high and flat at the left side, a band of velvet holding a small knot in front.

Just above that quite a lot of millinery can be seen, the smaller hats rising above heads and set at wide intervals all up the upper side of the picture as it leaves the little ostrich tips and the [illegible] in the [illegible] and [illegible] spirit.

Another [illegible] at the right of the picture, being [illegible] theater parties—weddings and all sorts of bright assemblies. It is of taupe velvet faced with silk in three colors, pale rose, blue and lavender, in bands inside a border of taupe on the underbrim. It is one of the few very wide-brimmed hats that have flourished in the midst of much more numerous small ones.

At the left a brown beaver hat with a crushed collar of velvet about the crown has only a fancy pompon of mounted ostrich for ornament. There is a furore for beaver hats and therefore it is sure of as much consideration as its more trimmed rivals.

HERE'S A CHAPLAIN PREACHING TO OUR BOYS, WHO HAS A RIGHT TO TITLE OF "SKY PILOT"

Here is a real "sky pilot." This picture shows a chaplain conducting Sunday morning services at an aerodrome "somewhere in France," from a most unusual pulpit. Lacking a pipe organ and a surpliced choir, the chaplain and his congregation are doing very well with the aid of a band. His right to the title of "sky pilot" is vouched for by several aviators with whom he made flights at the front.

EVERY DAY LUNCHEONS.

ICE, tasty hot soup is a dish which is worth while to serve for beginning of the noonday meal. The kind of soup depends upon taste, season and the amount one wishes to expend. A simple cream soup is wholesome, easy to prepare and inexpensive, so why slight the cream soup?

Cream of Cheese Soup.—Slice a large onion into a pint of water and boil until tender. Remove the onion and add two cupfuls of milk with a pinch of soda. Pour this liquid upon one tablespoonful of butter and flour cooked together. When the mixture thickens add half a cupful of grated cheese and one well beaten egg. Season with salt and pepper and serve hot. Do not boil after adding the egg.

Corn and Chicken Soup.—Use six cupfuls of water in which a chicken has been cooked. Add one cupful of corn and half a cupful of chicken cut very fine. Season with salt, red pepper and celery salt. Simmer half an hour, then add a tablespoonful of butter and half a cupful of milk. Bring to the boiling point and serve. To make a richer and more nourishing soup, an egg yolk may be added.

Quick Bread Pudding.—Cut thin slices of bread into two-inch squares and arrange in a buttered baking-dish with layers of raisins, chopped figs, or canned grated pineapple. Pour over it a pint of milk in which an egg has been stirred, add a little honey for sweetening and bake about twenty minutes.

Spiced Apples With Cider.—Take a cupful each of brown sugar and cider, one-fourth of a cupful of good vinegar, two bay leaves, twenty whole cloves, six whole allspice, two inches of cinnamon and a blade of mace. Put into a saucepan and bring to a boil. Pare and core eight tart apples cut in quarters, add to the sirup and simmer gently until tender. Skim out and boil down the sirup until it is thick as honey, pour over the fruit and serve very cold with cake.

OBSERVE FLU RULES AND HELP TO GET THE BAN LIFTED

The influenza situation according to the reports of the physicians was not as satisfactory as was hoped for and while the number of cases in the hospitals is gradually getting smaller many more cases appear to be developing in the homes where the disease had obtained a foothold. There were at last thirty new cases reported for Tuesday and while they or some of them appear to be of the milder type the fact of their being influenza is enough to warrant the belief that proper care is not being taken in all cases to prevent the disease spreading.

This should not be and all who have not already done so should waken up to this fact. The town has been closed up tight for two weeks now while many business places have been closed for four weeks and the embargo is beginning to work a hardship on some of our business people even greater than conditions warrant they should sacrifice and in justice to everybody, all should endeavor to their utmost stamp out the disease and let business and affairs generally resume their normal course.

The scourging of the disease and the wide-spread sorrow due to so many deaths is having an undesirable effect on the community generally and the sooner the gloom can be thrown off by a resumption of the usual activities of the community the better it will be for all.

Let us be more vigilant in our efforts against the disease and thus make it possible to lift the ban in Clearfield just as soon as it is possible and safe to do so.

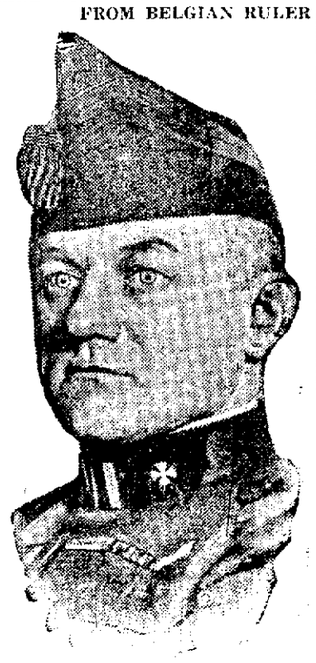
Some idea of the awful ravages of the influenza epidemic in communities where it is prevalent may be gained from the experience of a Tyler family. On October 17th Joseph Palcatell, a well known Italian resident, died leaving a wife and five children. Since that time the mother and every child but a little girl three years of age succumbed to the disease.

Michigan and South Dakota voted for woman suffrage.

Smith leads by 10,001 for governor of New York and is conceded to be elected. Whitman, Republican, was defeated by the Socialist Democrats of New York City.

Florida, Washington and Wyoming went into the dry column for keeps but a close vote fails to establish the status of Minnesota and Nevada. Colorado and California rejected the amendment.

HERE WITH MESSAGE FROM BELGIAN RULER



REV. PIERRE BLOMMAERT

The Rev. Pierre Blommaert, chaplain in chief of the Protestant chaplains of the Belgian army, has just arrived in this country with a message to the American people from King Albert, whom he saw a short time ago at the front. While in America he will be the guest of the Federated Council of the Churches of Christ.
